In July 2016, five young painters - Tomasz Głowacz, Mateusz Kijak, Rafał Nijak, Juliusz Słomka, Grzegorz Stokłosa - decided to pack their canvases and paints into their car and set off for Venice to practice plein-air painting. They all graduated from the High School for Fine Arts in Tarnow (Poland) and some of them continued their education at the Academy of Fine Arts in Kraków (Tomasz Głowacz, Mateusz Kijak, Juliusz Słomka) and in Warsaw (Rafał Nijak).

They went to Venice to search for inspiration and beauty. Their paintings are pure expression of their struggles with paint and the whole range of feelings experienced in the act of creation. They painted during days, surrounded by nosy tourists, but also at night, when they could enjoy the intimacy of Venice's wonders.
